ALERT

Hey Blue, it's Jack. Hate to be the bearer of bad news, but it seems like the bastard has landed in Canterlot and caused another chaos shockwave.

-SHRIEEEEEEEK-
ABSOLUTELY UNACCEPTABLE!
IS HE STILL THERE?!

No, looks like he just dropped in and left soon after.

I'm going to need to double down on Canterlot's defenses.
Make sure this didn't cause any major disruptions and take care of our VIP.
Roger that.

Who was that?
He sounded familiar.
Don't worry about it.

Yo Neo can you be in more then one sonic screwdriver?
Well as you can see now, yes. But we're not synced up. I get data from both to my core, but I can't transfer that data to the one that's with the Doctor. It's a failsafe to make sure I don't get overwhelmed with all the timey wimey.

samcantpickausername said
if neo is still in this sonic, there are 2 possibilities. both very interesting. either he'll be like a copy of neo as he was when the doctor lost this sonic, a separate entity from the one we've seen with the doctor recently. OR, it's still connected to the tardis via some cross-time network. and neo will be able to be in 2 places (and times) at once
I'll try to explain. You see, the first fragment that's in this current sonic screwdriver was misplaced and split off on to its own timeline when it was found. I've been getting data from it this whole time. But when the new sonic was made, a new fragment was transferred that only has the data from the previous sonic before it was misplaced, so that version of me doesn't know the information that this version of me does.

Can't neo just find just pinpoint where the doctor changed and then torchwood can find a way to get there before him to make sure that he does not see what changed him?

Firstly, I don't have a way to time travel. Secondly, because of how everything has been affected by his experience in the past, it's become a fixed point.

Undoing it would tear apart the fabric of reality and only make things so much worse.

I've been trying to, actually, but information on him is either limited or unaccessable. I have no doubts he's involved, but I have no idea what can be done about it.

flightsy said

So let me get this straight. You, the NEO with torchwood, are the original NEO projecting its core through the original sonic screwdriver. But since when the TARDIS makes a new sonic screwdriver it copies the data over from the old one, a version of NEO from when the sonic went missing was copied onto the new one, and is the NEO currently with the doctor. This new NEO can't be given new information from the core like original NEO can, but original NEO can still receive info from it, right?

Well, I can give basic signals and instructions to the Neo with the Doctor, but I can't give him information that has been learned outside the core, like anything new from the old sonic screwdriver.

samcantpickausername said
you say the fragment w th the doctor hasnt been getting updates from the core but it seems to think it knows what the core has been doing dur ng the year and a half he wasnt activated
He knows what the core has been up to, but not what the old sonic has been up to.

samcantpickausername said

so, if I understand this right. core/original sonic/torchwood neo knows what new sonic/doctor neo does, but not vice versa? so the neo with the doctor is like a spy for torchwood that doesnt even know he's a spy himself

Let's make it easier, call me TWNeo, and the other one DRNeo. You're right, DRNeo is the perfect kind of spy, a spy who isn't even aware they are a spy. That way it's harder to compromise his mission, which is to get as much data from the Doctor as he can.

In the meantime, yeah, that would be a good idea. Maybe we can attach something to you to keep giving me mild readings at the very least to see what happens.

magfan_universe said

Doc. How come you really don't understand magic well? I mean when you were spending time with twilight, you didn't think to ask her about magic once. Chances are this is a combination of both time screw up and black magic (yes black magic is a thing) you really should do some research on magic. That might give you a leg up on the whole situation.

[redacted] said

It would probably be good to research some into magic more before going into this, maybe look at some of the pre existing research done by the ponies.

You don't think I didn't TRY studying magic when I realized it existed here? I got the basics of it, but a lot of it frankly doesn't make any logical sense. Not even ponies fully understand it.

Doc you basically started in the middle of a horror/mystery novel. You can't figure out what's going on unless you go to the beginning. Try going to before Pinkie Pie started killing ponies. Great detectives need the information from before the killings started in order to find the killer. The killer may have been found, but the cause has not, only the medium of the cause, which would be the time bleeding ooking through Pinkie's Timeline huh? Any idea where to start? I doubt you'd find anything while Pinkie was growing up on her Family's Rock Farm that would help

... But nothing seems to have been changed here. I don't think this is where it happened. Her energy reading is completely different than it was in Sugarcube Corner.

ask-shadeofnight said

Just to be thorough, we may want to start as early as possible. We already know Pinkie was good friends with Twilight and the other Elements after Nightmare Moon. It more than likely started from sometime after that event, otherwise the elements of harmony would likely be destabilized and unable to fully function as they did

After Nightmare Moon, before Twilight ascended as a Princess... That's still a big gap to sort through, there must be a way to narrow it down...

You implied that there was a way to locate the metaphorical nail of where the original event that started the chain reaction of other events that are happening around you. How would you go about doing so?
That's true, it's a little complicated and requires me to get a reading from Pinkie, which I already did before she captured me...

Anonymous said to askdiscordwhooves.
You said you got a weird reading from Pinkie that you didn't recognize, maybe you should try finding that energy elsewhere for answers?
Right, right! All I need to do is feed the information I scanned in to the TARDIS and attempt to locate where it's concentrated and where a fixed point in time is surrounded by fluxed energy...!

If that's so then that gives me even more reason to believe that he's still there, somewhere deep down.

Jack basically is the living embodiment of "For the Greater Good." He killed his grandson to save a planet. I think you can trust him to save your universe, but just know you, Dinky, Sparkler, your brother, and anypony else will be sacrificed if he deems it nessacary

S-sometimes the Doctor has had to make hard choices, to sacrifice the few for the many even if he really didn't want to, but he never forgets and he never stops punishing himself for it.

Maybe Jack is the same..?

Cause and effect can be hard to figure out Jack. Especially when Time travel is involved. While there's definitely a connection between the Doctor and the Temporal Collapse, it might not be directly related Everywhen and where he goes, it causes a huge strain on the universe, and more crap mixes in from other realities. I don't know how that isn't 'directly related'.

Cou d the fact that the Doctor's mere existance causes r ps in reality be related to the fact he s not from th s universe? n that case wouldn't Jack and the Master have s m lar effects? Or is it whatever s corrupting him?

The Master might have changed the history of this universe and made it vulnerable to chaos, but the Doctor's the one who's making things merge and distort. And me? I try not to mess around with time too much just in case.

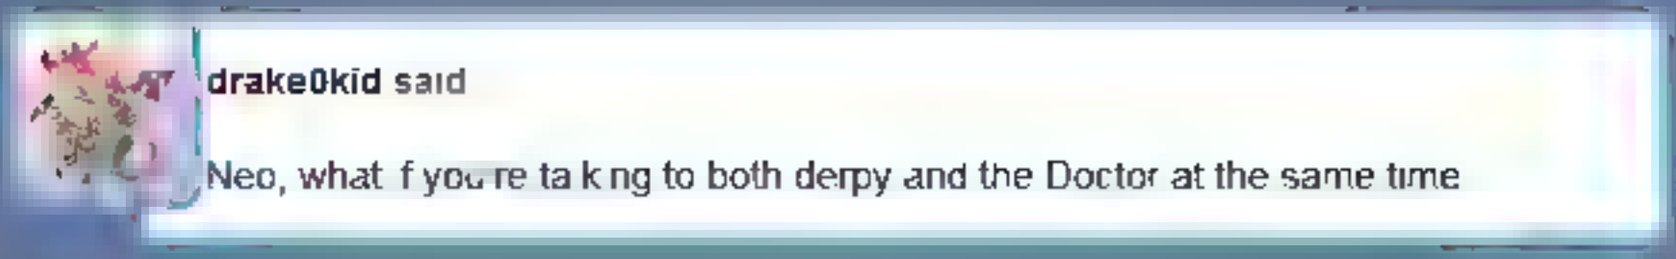
What's the diagnosis, Dr Neo?

From what I've gathered, I'd say most of his emotional magic has been converted in to a corruptive chaotic magic that feeds on his negative emotions and dulls the positive. There's also a leaking energy that's similar to regeneration energy, it seems to be fighting off the foul magic in bursts but it can't keep up with the darker magic.



I am and I'm not, it's a little too complicated to explain.

Twilight, lightning Blitz is doing okay Apparently, he was transported to his father's house after the doctor partially fix the problem that was happening in their universe He's doing okay now It seems that over the years he's been doing fine being raised by his mother

Over the years? It hasn't been that long here...
I hope I'm still in the picture somehow...

It seems that Scootaloo and lightning blitz along with the criminal Starlight glimmer went and solve the problem that's been happening in their Universe It seems that the god of time Chronos was causing the problems They defeated him but he was then killed by a mare named Solar, who then replaced him as the new god of time But it seems killing him that caused some problems in certain universes
So that's what that powerful time energy was, I couldn't do anything about it but she did, huh... Good for her.
Oh I wish I could congratulate her...

Doctor... It's alright.

I think it's for the best. We both know this place isn't safe. Serial killers, tragedy, war... The world he's from is much better. I loved having him with me, but I was always terrified for his safety. Unless things get better here, I'd rather he stay there.

Besides, it takes the pressure off of you, you don't have to worry about him any more.

Oh. That was my brother, he came to see if I was okay, tried to comfort me, but mostly he wanted me to come back to the throne because of the war that's brewing with the diamond dogs. I didn't know about it until then, but I insisted I wasn't in the right state of mind to lead in any way. I wish I could help but I know I just can't.

There's good news and bad news... The good news is I found the point in time that was altered to change your timeline, and I'm close to figuring out how to fix it.

Anonymous said

You gotta tell her, doc. It's for the better

The bad news is... Well, I really don't know how to say this lightly. You were tricked in to doing something terrible, it's NOT your fault. As I said, the timeline was altered, you did it right in the original timeline.

D-Doctor what are you talking about?

That day that Pinkie cloned herself—

I am so incredibly sorry, Dissy. This will be hard. But even though you feel like you're going to break down, we know you'll rise up again. You don't have much more to give, but you always give it your all. That's what makes us proud of you. That's why we love you, Doctor.
I hate making you do this, but I need you to make a decision.
What is it?

When I figure out how to fix this, and if I do it, there's a high chance that you... Won't remember any of this timeline, including memories about me. Everything will be back to the way it was meant to be.

So tell me... Would you prefer I fix it, or not?

I think I need to be left alone to think for a while... This is all a lot to take in, and I need to look at it all at every angle. I need to make charts, take notes, make comparisons...

I understand. Just summon me with your neck piece when you've made your decision.
I will.

Hey, doctor. You remember Lil Miss Rarity? Well, her home Universe has been destroyed thanks to two demons battling it out. One of them she gave birth to while the other is the father of the demon. Anyway, the other demon that that universe's Twilight made a deal with transported her and her friends to a universe that was an exact duplicate of their own before their home universe was destroyed

weloudfollower said
So what you're saying is that certain universes are being repaired? And once they are repaired a Time Lord can't travel to that Universe anymore? Including any other ponies who can travel through the Multiverse too?
Some might find other ways to travel to other universes, but the TARDIS would not be able to.

However my blog started up must have started earlier in time for some reason. You know what you should tell Derpy? That she's a putz for thinking I didn't notice her feelings, and that she's foolish for having them.

I try not to involve myself in wars between a planet's locals if I can help it, it's the extraterrestrial involvement that I intervene. Or used to.

Doctor, what about Torchwood? They probably know that you're at the library They have a computer that's able to track the location of the TARDIS thanks to Jack's time vortex manipulator Maybe there's a way the Tardis could block the signal? And maybe Neo can help as well?

¡Theta!

Anonymous said
are derpy and neo officially part of torchwood?
Now that you're with Torchwood, I present to you the planet's biggest dimensional rift, kept contained by us to keep the universe stable until we can find a way to close it.

You noticed the timeline's different, that's because of all the rifts that are open everywhere. With the power of this big rift, we've been slowly closing them back up so no further changes will happen.

Not a creative icon

samcantpickausername said

derpy, the way he angrily reacts to you seems likely connected with his infection and personality change, and he didnt meet twilight until after that happened also, twilights life has been significantly affected by the rifts changing the timeline and fixing those will likely replace all of her time with the doctor with the fixed timeline so this whole situation is very complicated

It sounds like he keeps finding reasons not to help... But if he lo-likes her and their time will be erased, I guess that's pretty serious and understandable. If I had to choose between saving the world or keeping the memories between me and the Doctor, I don't know what I'd do.

coolsouleater20 said

Jack you gave up on him to still blaming him for something that was your choice

Was it my choice though? You know how this disease works, it creeps in and makes us go against our own morals and character. I'm constantly struggling to tell myself the Doctor isn't in control of himself, but this curse makes it hard to not want revenge on him.

Anonymous said

Jack, we all know that you are afraid of the master. You know that he knows that you can't be killed, but he can torture you. He will put you through unimaginable torture if you kill the doctor. In fact, he is the second Dangerous Time Lord in your universe

Then maybe I'll kill The Master after I kill The Doctor, if it comes down to that.

Jack, you do know that the future was chaotic not because of the doctor but because of Discord himself? Him being free caused a lot of trouble in the future And one of the stallions that you found dead was trying to create something that was similar to cyberponies

Listen, from all our research, we have one major theory. That Discord is using The Doctor as a tool to destroy the universe.
All those bleeding NPCs were a result of The Doctor visiting alternate universes. He's the knife that's making the gashes.

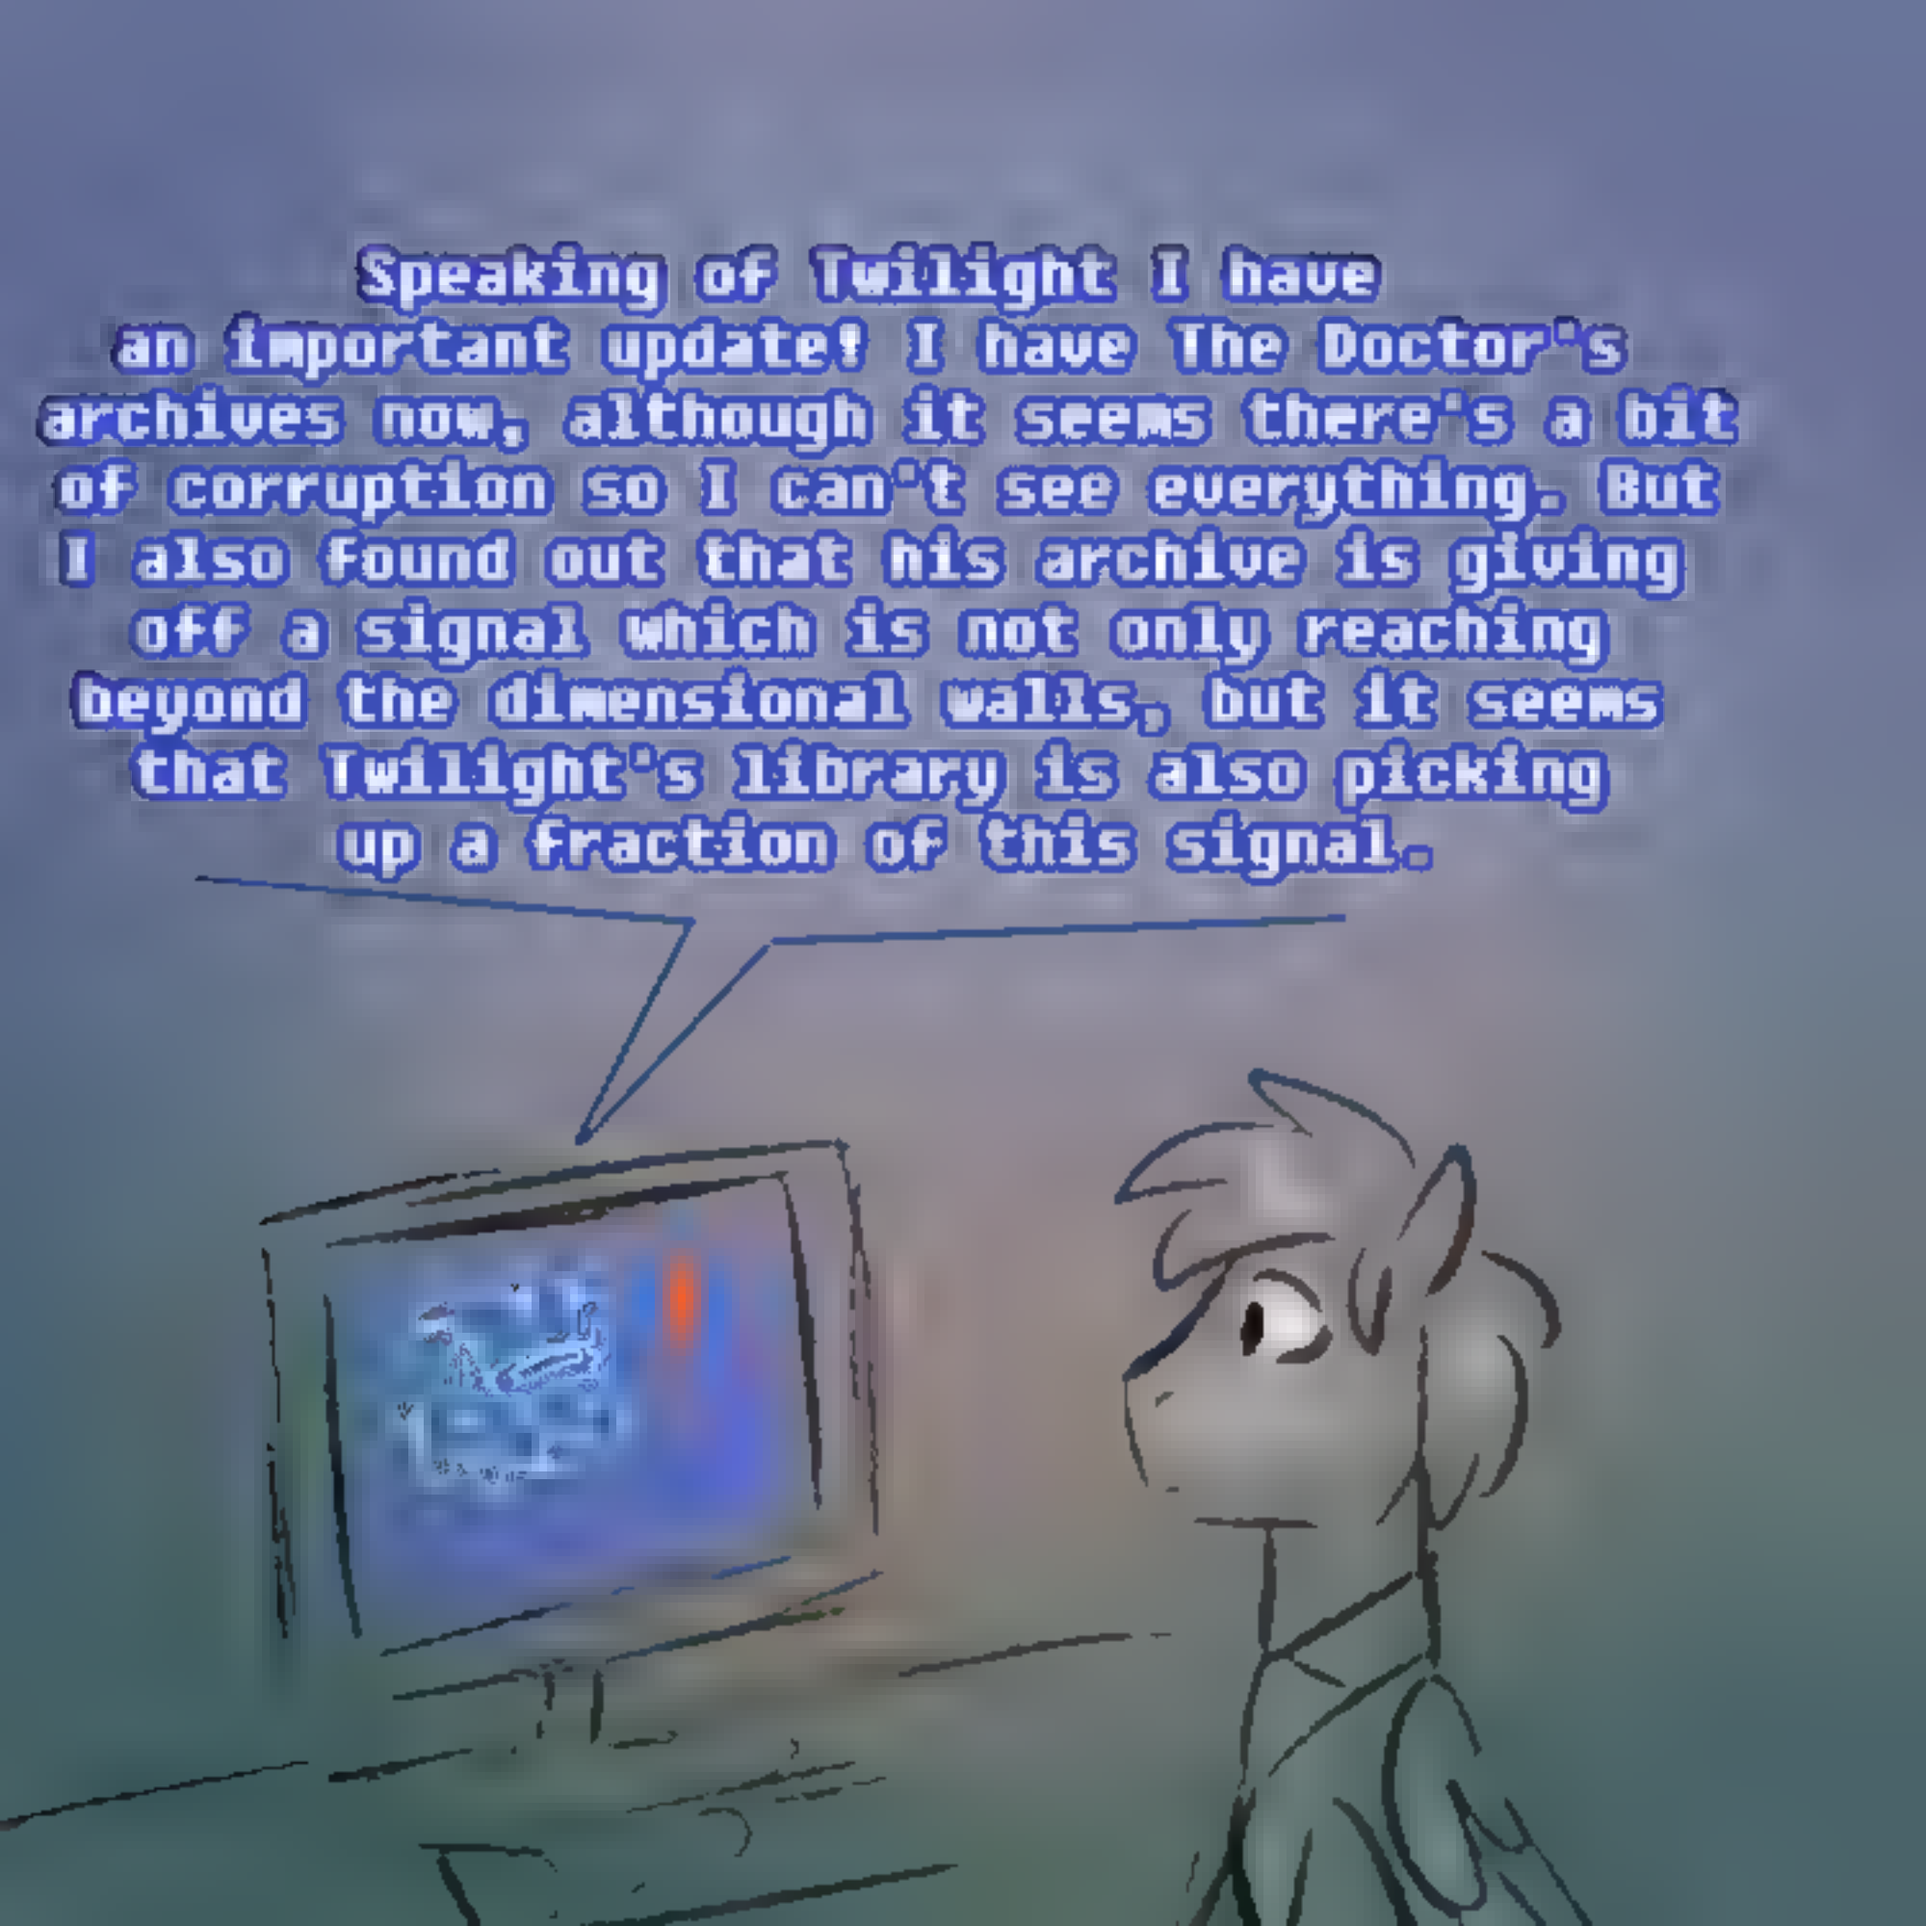
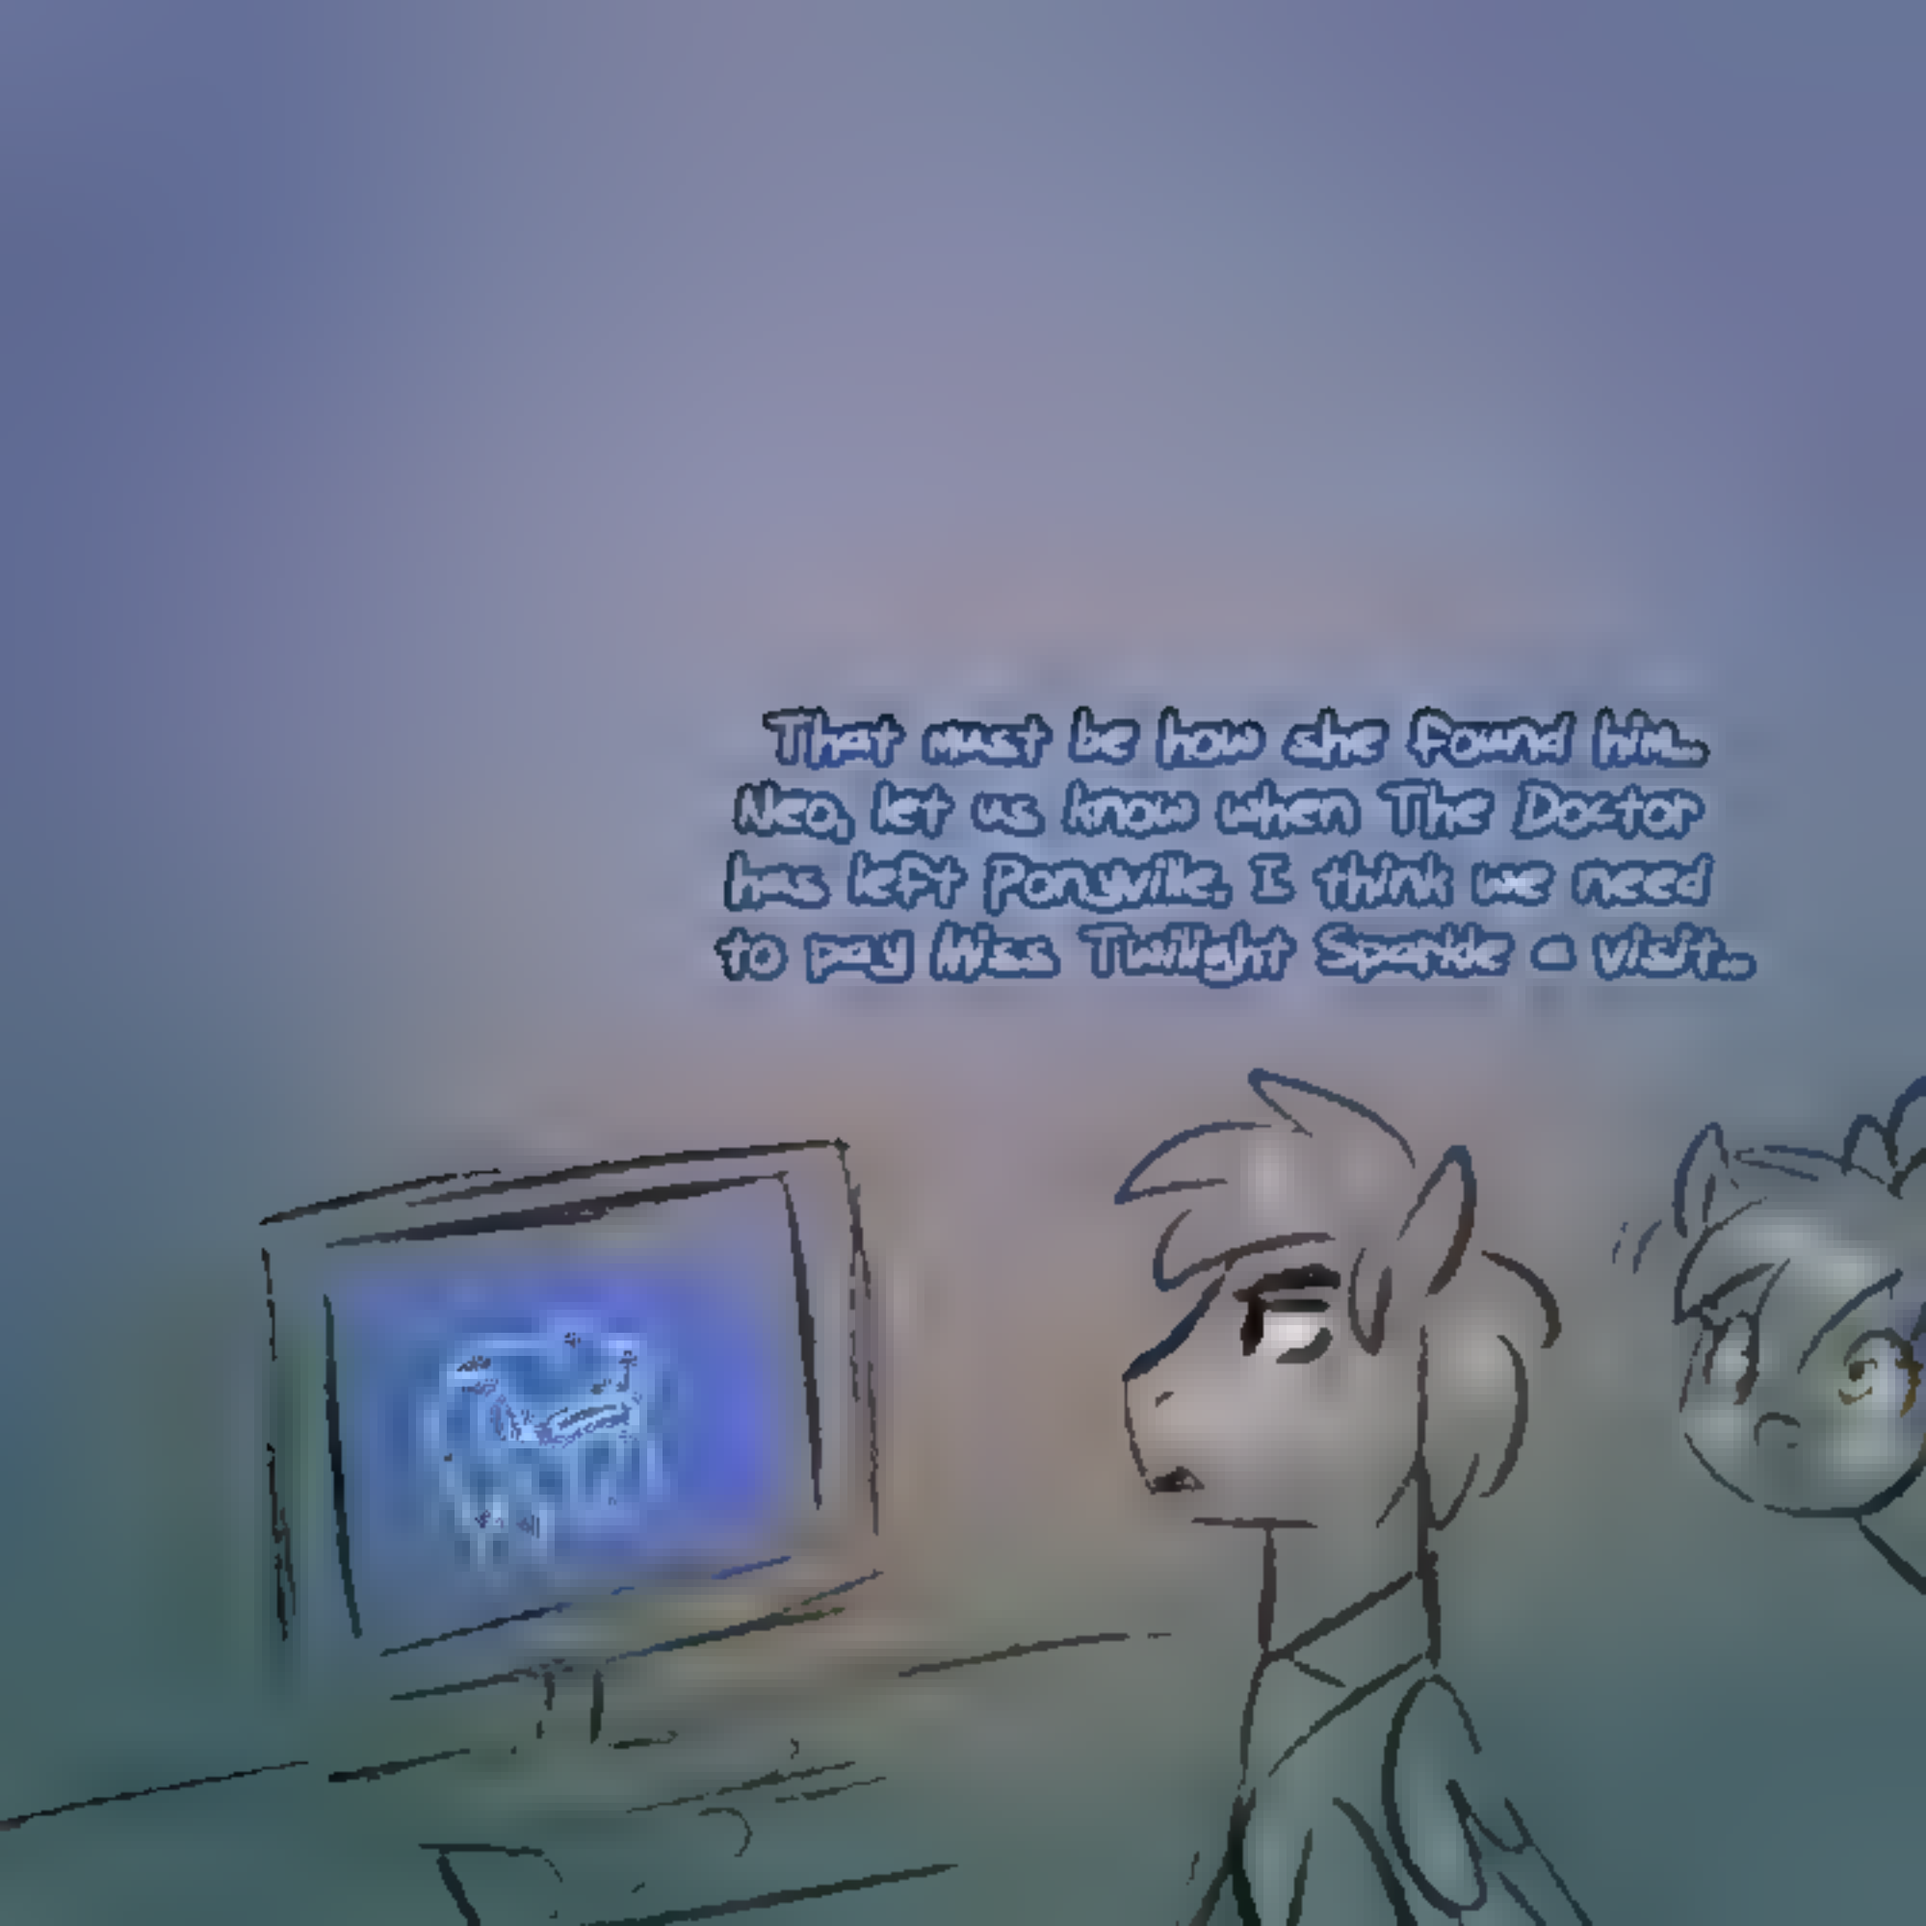
The Doctor has been feeding Twilight half truths, Jack. It may be hard for her if you tell her all the crap he's done and the threat against the universe but at her core she's an academic. It might not be immediate but, given time, she'll know you're right
I'll have to come up with some convincing points to get her to help us. She knows me but I don't know what the Doctor's told her about me.



Speaking of Twilight I have an important update! I have The Doctor's archives now, although it seems there's a bit of corruption so I can't see everything. But I also found out that his archive is giving off a signal which is not only reaching beyond the dimensional walls, but it seems that Twilight's library is also picking up a fraction of this signal.



That must be how she found him..

What's a crystal pony doing so far from the Crystal Empire? Will we get a proper introduction this time?

I was in the void; for such a long time, I lost quite a lot as I drifted in that nothingness, and when the universes touched, I was thrown just like Theta and Koschei. We all landed in different times. I began my journey with the beings who would be crystal ponies, and shaping Equestria was an honor that took many hundreds of years. The reason I'm in this town specifically...well, my TARDIS got stuck in Miss Twilight Sparkle's home many years before it became a full-grown hollow library. I stay with my old girl, one way or the other.

Oh

So what's your plan now that you're here? How are you going to prevent me from ruining everything I touch?

You don't have the faith in yourself that the people around you have cultivated. Part of the destruction around you stems from how much you hate yourself.

You spoke of Miss Sparkle, and she doesn't hate you. Do you not trust her judgment? I'm staying to guide you back to sanity and protect Equestria while doing so.

I trust her judgement, but she doesn't have all the facts about me that would let her fairly judge me. I just asked her to choose between me and her best friends, you would think that might clue her in on how selfish I am.

The right answer is obvious, but I don't want it.

Once you care about a person, you might ask them for something unimaginable. They might ask it of you. I think you asked her to choose because you wanted to self-flagellate, because friends ask insane things of friends.
So you asked a beacon of friendship to step away from her friends.

Self-flagellation and self-pity haunt you, and their consequences inflame you to take reckless, destructive, and violent actions.

Having a second voice, a voice you've known your whole life, whispering sanity for you as you face the need to explode can soften the shame and pain.

Your wisdom is something else.

Alright, if this is going to happen then we'll focus on Twilight's problem, which so happens to be the universe's problem right now.
Then explain it to me.

Anonymous said
Doctor, isn't the sugarcube corner incident a fixed point in time? There are a lot of other fixed points in time that happened after it. Wouldn't that cause some kind of paradox or something?
It's an anchored point, which is close to a fixed point but not the same thing because it wasn't from the original timeline. Removing it would return the original timeline. Yes, there are paradoxes involved, and yes it's very complicated to do correctly.

Anonymous said

By altering Twilight's past, you also at the same time alter your own too, doctor
It was thanks to Twilight that you started changing. That means you'll return back to your old self, back to when you was drinking and being super negative. The moment you change her past, all of your memories of everything that happened will change as well

It doesn't work like that, because I'm a Time Lord, because I have the TARDIS and travel through the time vortex, I'll retain memories of the timeline even when it's undone. I'd be at the eye of the storm, unaffected by the changes going on around me.

Anonymous said

She is going to have to decide between friendship and love, doctor. Besides even if you change the past, what if the incident's going to happen anyway but with the real Pinkie Pie? Don't forget, the little Miss Rarity universe bled into Twilight's universe thanks to Rarity being in a coma.

The only reason it bled in was because of the Pinkie Pie clone stealing the timeline. It made the dimensional walls weaker.

Doc If Twilight accepts forgetting you to fix everything, you'll probably convince yourself it's for the best But you'll surely regret it later Consider a way to make her aware of this timeline even if she doesn't remember the events herself Also she would be forgetting Lightning and family too right?
...Yes, she'd forget them as well, but what she lost might be more important to her than that. I don't think it's a good idea to try to make her remember this timeline, for the risks and the emotional toll. This isn't the first time I've had to have someone forget about me.

f twilight wants you to fix it, and you can but you wont either she doesnt find out and you deal with the gu lt of lying to her, or she finds out and poss bly feels betrayed are either of those worth it?

They're not worth it, I know they're not, but I'm still terrified of losing her.

Anonymous said

What's stopping you from re-establishing a relationship with Twilight in the fixed timeline? It'd be hard and I know you think she'll be putting herself at risk but don't you think she should be deciding whether or not to take that risk? You've extended her the choice before, why not again?

I think we connected because we'd lost friends, and both lacked the willpower to keep taking on our responsibilities. We're both tired of being heroes, and just want to have company without those expectations. With her timeline fixed, she won't be like that any more.

Anonymous said:
While I think it's a great step that you were able to (healthily) extend the choice to Twilight, what happens if she says no but then the bleeding gets worse?? What happens if the tears get so bad the universe unravels altogether? Will you still stand by?
Then maybe we'll run. Maybe I'll take her to a new universe altogether and let this one burn.

Anonymous said

Not that fobbing yourself is a bad idea Doc, but maybe consider trying to stabilize the universe (not necessarily "fix") first, yeah? Seems like a huge risk otherwise

IF I'm not resetting the timeline, then fine, I'll look in to other possible ways to stabilize the universe.

But if I can't find anything, we're out of here.

I want my friends back so badly, but isn't there anything I can do here and now? How can I help The Doctor come out of this okay?

Ah, Sunset... She doesn't know about anything that happened here. I stopped responding to her letters and eventually she stopped sending them. She's safer in the human world, I don't want her getting involved in this.

Twilight, I heard that Trixie is back! She was with the Diamond Dogs. She got her hands on a magical artifact known as the Alicorn Amulet. It can increase the magic of the unicorn, but it's magic will corrupt them the longer they wear it. She used its magic to become the new ruler of the Diamond Dogs.

What? How did she get the amulet back?! This is bad, she's probably mad with power, and there's no way she'll allow herself to be tricked in to taking off the amulet again!

There's no point in crying over woulda-shoulda-coulda's, Twilight. If even the Doctor can't change the past, then neither can you. The only thing to do is what YOU do best - research. Study. Tackle this problem like every other one you have, and figure out how you can make things better in the NOW. You lost two friends, then - but there may be a chance you can bring one of them back in the now.
Right. Making things better now.
You're right. I should find this mirror pool myself and study it, see if I can do anything with it, and then I'll try to learn more about Discord.

Jack. Twilight knows that the Doctor is a time lord but not much else The Doctor told her that you're "holding a grudge against him" and she knows nothing about Ditzy or their kids We once asked her about his condition but she expressed disinterest in solving it I don't think she understands the kind of danger he is Above everything you have to make that clear

I know you don't want to hear this, but The Doctor really isn't himself. He's dangerous, he can't control himself. He may have a soft spot for you but he could turn at any moment. He shot me, you know.
I'm only alive because I can't die.

I formed Torchwood to keep a close eye on him, and discovered he's been dragging aspects of other universes in to this one, altering the timelines.

If he's not stopped, the timeline will become so chaotic that the universe could collapse in on itself.

That's not right, he's trying to fix the timeline, and I know he'd never hurt me. I'm sorry you got in an argument that got so out of hoof, but I know he's good.

We all agree that we really care about the Doctor, maybe even love him, and that he needs our help. We know that he can be wonderful, and that he's not supposed to be the way he is now. We know he'd never want to be like this.

If he's still good around You, Twilight, then it means he's still in there. Somehow You bring the good out of him, and I'm sure that means You really can help him.

Jack and Ditzy the Doctor has done a lot of awful stuff over the past year but to Twilight, he's the only friend she has left. you're going to have to make a strong argument Be kind, considerate. maybe offer her friendship as well as a post in Torchwood?

But... Besides that, too... I'm really sorry about everything that's happened to you. You must be aching so badly inside, and it's probably really hard to reach out to anypony. So I'm offering to be your friend. If you can make the Doctor happy, even a little, that's all I need to know that you're worth being friends with.

Twilight, do you know any secrets about Discord's curse?

Secrets? Nothing that I can really think of, other than using the memory spell to fix it.

ifspokenfor said

So just how much does everyone know about Discords Curse here? Perhaps Torchwood Derpy, and Twi can exchange notes?

I don't know much at all. I should have known it was discord but I just couldn't make the connection. I'm a dummy...

You're not dumb, Discord's magic distorts our perception of him so it's difficult to make the right connections. Torchwood is somewhat familiar with his magic, we studied the quarantined scar he left back in the Era of Chaos. If Twilight joins, we can definitely share notes.

Anonymous said
Twilight, can't you at least share with them what you know about being discorded?
...For me, when I was under the curse, I'd lost all hope. My magic and I suddenly seemed useless, and I felt like giving up on everything. I didn't feel smart enough to fix the problem.

your-eternal-support said
Twilight, since the spell to restore the doctor wont work because you don't have memories of "The Good Doctor", can t you use Jack or Derpy's? Hers especially, since the two had a close bond!
It might be possible, but I'd have to make a new spell for it and that could take some time.
Well like I said before, you're welcome to experiment on me.

Anonymous said

Twilight, is there any way for a non-unicorn to use the memory spell that cures Discord's curse? Or any kind of method to use someone other than the spell caster's memory?

I don't know, I'm not even sure other unicorns could replicate the spell. There may be other methods to sharing memories with other ponies but I need to do more research.

doghero99 said

Twilight, you should have a back up plan in case Jack tries to kill the doctor
After all, I don't think the master would be happy if you all try to kill the doctor

Twilight, there's something that's bothering me.
How did you even find the Doctor in the first place?

Oh! I started a blog and saw some of his posts. He seemed like he needed a hug so I responded to him with an offer, then he showed up here.

How?
Excuse me?
How did you have access to the internet?

I-I don't know I was just lonely and used a spell on my computer I guess? And then I just talked to it and started getting questions...

Where did you get a computer?

What? Hm. maybe I built it?

Maybe?

Well I don't honestly remember, everything was a bit of a blur after what happened to my friends. I was just desperate for some kind of connection again.

The thing is, there shouldn't be an internet, and there shouldn't be computers here. Torchwood has computers only because we have access to future technologies.

What? But that... doesn't make any sense...
You're right, it doesn't make sense.

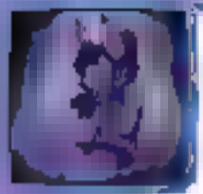
I don't know what possessed you to build a computer or what gave you a computer, but whatever it was I think it wanted you to get signals from The Doctor.

I don't know if it was Discord or some other force... But you need to be careful.



reggiethebunny said

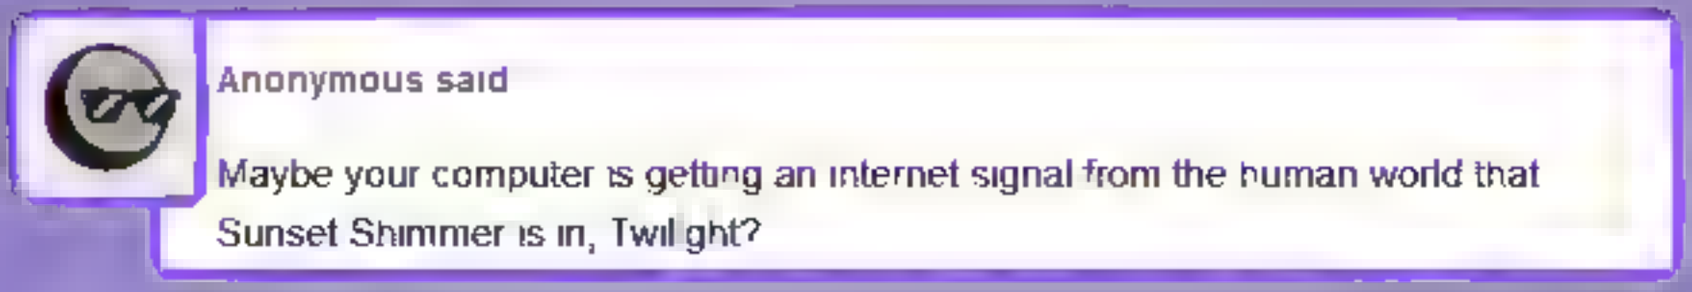
Why has the idea that Twilight shouldn't have a computer never dawned on me?

That's how Discord works, he can change things in a way that makes them seem like they've always been that way, at least when he's being more subtle.

Anonymous said

We also communicate with you guys through computers. You think the same force is behind that?

It might be the reason we're connected, at the very least.



Anonymous said
Maybe your computer is getting an internet signal from the human world that Sunset Shimmer is in, Twilight?

Oh, maybe that's where I got the idea for a computer? I wasn't there long enough to learn about the internet though, that idea just sort of popped in my head.

ifspokenfor said

Hmm Well, do you think because of the Doctors arrival in this universe, Discord got more information on modern technology, and is trying to push everyone together? It feels like more and more timelines and universes are making ponies from entirely different realities meet Or do you think Discord didn t realize the danger the realities were in by the Doctors antics, and has a totally different plan in store?

I don't think discord cares about the dangers. Where he might have learned of human technology I'm not sure but that's just one more universe being bled in to ours. One that really shouldn't be. Whatever he's planning though, it's big.

toagalen2019 said

Back how and when did you started receiving questions? Did some force compelled you to get a computer and internet? And what universe did it happen in? Is there a universe you'll like to revisit?

Torchwood was provided computers and networking by 'Blue', who has access to and knowledge of that technology Who's Blue anyways?

It's a code name for a reason.

the-green-anon said

Minuette.
What was the Doctor like, before he stole the TARDIS?
He was impulsive, quick to anger and frustration. He could fill a room with his personality and win over the worst of the worst. And he had the expansive option of kindness which many Time Lords don't have.

codas-tricks said
Minuette, careful. Don't get too emotional around Theta right now. He is some deep trouble, and it catches. Be good to him. he really does try his best
I have no intention of doing wrong by him. I hope that much is clear. If there's trouble, then the path towards responsibility is where we're going to head.

codas-tricks said
Minuette. who are the two be ngs, that can be ng balance to Theta s actions. that you mentioned?
Koschei and myself But he's in Canterlot handling the world and that leaves me far freer to look out for Theta

Anonymous said

Minuette, it seems that the TARDIS won't allow you to see her other form
Ananta

That makes a little more sense. Knowing what I do about the TARDIS race, it has more to do with Theta's madness than the Lady's choices regarding such a thing. But I've been wrong before.

It wouldn't be the first time I've been in awe of these marvellous creatures!"

Anonymous said

Maybe at least Minuette can figure out there's something different about Ananta/the hourglass? Since she's a Time Lady and al I dunno maybe she can smell the regen energy all floating around in there-

There's certainly something amiss, but I was a librarian when I worked with them, so my knowledge of their pathologies is limited. I cannot risk hurting her to 'treat' an illness I don't have experience with

Anonymous said
Why do you call the Doctor Theta? Is/was that his true name?
your-eternal-support said
So, Patience, Or Minuette rather. What made you marry the doctor? I'm curious!
It was his name throughout his youth, yes. I chose to marry him because he asked. I was close to both Theta and Koschei, and while Koschei and I were the better match by far, it was Theta who took advantage of the most important thing. Time

ask-sun said
Now that Minuette has met Anata I think it apt to ask her opinion on something important. There were times when doc was in really stressful situations, mentally and sometimes physically, that during and after the doc would breath out regenerative energy and if Anata was around, she would capture it and in her words "safe it for him for when he needed it". I may be missing some important pieces of information that the other askers might know but I wanted to know your thoughts Minuette
That does change things. He could be leaking regenerative energy. Ananta could theoretically gather it for either fuel or even a completely separate regenerative event. I'll keep eyes on the situation.

your-eternal-support said
So Minnie. Can I call you Minnie? If not, Minuette. Have you ever heard of a creature called Discord?
Discord, what a wretched creature, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the rotting piece of filth had a hand in this!

And no I only let one creature call me Minny

Anonymous said

So you agree that Galfrey deserved to be locked away in a pocket dimension, minuette?

It'd be a bad idea to jump right in to it, there needs to be a plan, and a few backup plans, something on this scale needs to be carefully considered.

Anonymous said

Fixing the issue is probably going to be a pain. It's good you have Minuette with you, but the more people that are working together to fix it the easier it will be on you. Anyone else you could ask for help?

Well, since Twilight was involved in what happened, her input at the very least could be very useful. We need to know what exactly happened when she sent Pinkie to the mirror pool, and how to change it.

Anonymous said

How does one even go about fixing a problem like this? The obvious answer is at the source if possible but are we sure Pinkie is the cause of the problem and not a effect of an even larger issue?

It's obvious this was caused by something bigger than Pinkie, that's another reason why simply fixing the timeline might not be enough, it could just find another point in time to screw up. Preventing that from happening is another priority. I don't know about stopping the source, but at least blocking it from doing more damage is something.

weloudfollower said
Well you better be careful You know that Jack will fo low you, remember? He did go into the future eventual y

Okay so You sa d it's very hard to do correctly to fix the anchored point, yeah? Can you explain what's wrong with maybe just undo ng Twilight send ng the wrong Pinkie Pie to the mirror poo ? The real Pinkie did say one of the clones played a trick Couldn't you just undo that? Or would that exp ode something
For one thing we don't know what the clone Pinkie might do if we try to stop her, I doubt she'll go down without a fight. For another, unless we know how to prevent that EXACT moment and make sure events play out how they should, there's always the risk of the timeline going wrong in another way.

Doctor, you might need to face Discord and you don t have to do it alone either Twi ight has faced Discord once and she could help you once you help get her friends back
Oh because we all know how well things go when I get others involved! This isn't the same as the Discord Twilight had to seal away. If he wants this universe, I can't stop him!

Doc we re not trying to be ntrusive, we're just trying to figure out what's corrupting the t mel ne Everywhere we turn Discord s right around the corner Are you sure whatever you saw in the cave isn't connected at all?
What I saw and what's happening now aren't connected so long as I can help it, but the more I meddle the more likely they will be. So after this, no doing any favors for the universe.

Apologies if you've been asked this before, but have you considered that the reason you're unwilling to deal with Discord is that in addition to enhancing your negative personality traits, he's put a spell on you to make you afraid and unwilling to deal him? 'Cause usually you eat Chaos 'gods' for breakfast
Yeah, in the human universe. I don't know how to deal with magic, especially not chaos magic! I can't just reverse the polarity and solve the problem now, can I?! This is very reasonable self preservation!

You're the one who's faced D scord before. not us If you deem him too dangerous, you must have good reasons and it'd be unfair to expect you to just charge in and save the day without any regard towards your own well being, Doc Surely there must be another way to approach this situation
Right, maybe we can't stop Discord but maybe we can safeguard against him, force the correct timeline to lock in to place so he can't do anything major with it. It would take a lot of energy, but I at least have an idea of what sort of device would be needed to connect to the TARDIS and pull it off.

So you don't want to deal with Discord, understandable considering what he did to you. How would you feel if someone dealt with him for you?

If someone could solve it for me for once? If someone could step in to take my place and let me retire? What I would give for that! Why is it so wrong of me to want to do something else after having a thousand years of saving everyone in my memories?!

Doctor, how is it that even though all these people believe in you even after knowing your whole story you still can't find it in you to believe in yourself, even if only for a little while?
Because all of my failures are burned in to my brain, because everything I believed in was wrong, because I know the truth but still cling to the lie like a bloody idiot because I'm too scared to let go!

You've spent your whole lives being a hero when you didn't have to be and yet your kindness was taken for granted so many times. Is it really a wonder you're suffering from compassion fatigue? Forget all the nagging you must have absolutely needed a break from the nonsense of the universe. You bear such heavy burdens that those who nag and nag about you needing to be a hero would never be able to comprehend

It's so much more than fatigue, there's been a hole in me since before I encountered Discord, the hole just keeps getting deeper rather than filling up like it should.

No love? In my Doctor?

It's more likely than you think

[free tard.s check]

Those damn changelings. I shouldn't have given them all my love like that, stupidest thing I've ever done in this life. There's a puddle's worth in what was an ocean. Despite that I did try to keep solving problems, but I couldn't keep doing it. It's hard to save what you no longer feel passion for.

And for whatever insane reason, Twilight was that puddle. It started with her, and I felt it expanding just a little to a select few every once in a while. And I don't know what's going to happen if I have to say goodbye to her, if I lose what little is there...

Minuette. do you notice anything different about the Doctor? And not just all the pony parts, does his personality seem at all odd?
Watching him like this is difficult. He goes further and further into his pain until he can't see a way out
Odd, though, when he doesn't think I'm there, he spirals downward

He flounders from time to time, but the real key to all of this? I think he already knows it.

Love and friendship complicate our lives. They get us whipped up in other emotions, cloud our judgment, and show our vulnerabilities. He's running because that's what he feels comfortable doing when he's manic or vulnerable

The fear is one way he's vulnerable, and Discord is powerful enough that his fears are, to an extent, justified. He fears for Twilight's very life, and Discord is a serious and world-ending threat. More fear, more self-doubt, less rational thinking about the problem

There's a lot of this I don't know anything about yet. What I do know is that friendship and love makes us better than the cruel, greedy monsters we're born as

I know love is worth saving I'm grateful for that, and so the world is not easy It's simple for me because of that, but it's for him, though he's one of the most loved beings in all of space and time

I can't solve this problem but there's no doubt the solution is there to be found. I don't know what the right place would be for nailing down the timeline, and I don't know what Discord will do next, but I know to trust in love and friendship.

Hey Patience? Is the Doctor exactly the same as you remember or Do you think he s different? Regenerations aside

Theta's regeneration already leads to large personality changes, so that's difficult to judge. He seems far more hopeless, far more frightened, than I've ever seen

Anonymous said

Patience. be very careful not to make the doctor very angry. The last two who caused him to get very angry brought out his side. Hyde

I have never, nor will I ever fear for my life or well-being if anger will change how he's dealing with this problem, then I'll work with that.

Ms minnette we must warn that there's a curse on the doctor that's causing him to expel his regeneration energy

Anonymous said

Minuette! The TARDIS hourglass has been absorbing regeneration energy from the Doctor!

That makes sense. Curses are nasty little things, but at least the energy is being stored up. There will come a time when we'll need it. I wonder if it could be harnessed to handle the Discord problem..

I care about and respect you doc, but considering the scale of things here . rea ly don't think this whole thing should hinge on what TW LIGHT wants This is bigger than her I don't th nk she ought to get to make a dec sion ke that It's Twilight's friends, it's her timeline, and she's not just an average person, she was a royal. I think she should have every right to choose.

zegreyus said

You seem pretty adamint about avoiding Discord, but what will you do if for whatever reason, he decides to go after someone you care about like Twilight

I'll do whatever I can to save her, except directly confront him. That would only make the situation much much worse.

Anonymous said

Quite frankly Doctor, even if you did want to run away I honestly don't think you have the option. What's stopping Discord from following you to the next universe over? What's stopping him from coming after Twilight?

Hmmph... You have a point, but at least it would give us more time for a while, and we could keep running as far as we can...

Anonymous said

Your love for Twilight is what started bringing back your love for everything. But once time is altered, Twilight won't remember everything that happened including the moments you had with her. Without Twilight's love, you'll go back to being your old, dark self

Maybe I will, or maybe worse still I'll have just enough love left to be heartbroken.

The doctor Theta whoever you are or wanna be you need to act your age not your bra size! The universe possibly even the multiverse is at risk and you're standing around moping that's not the you I know and maybe not the one you know either I believe in you

I'm not that old in this body. Not even five years. And I have a thousand years of memories, as if you'd know what someone that age would act like. You won't even likely hit 100 or know anyone that old.

If Discord is the one responsible for everything and if he is capable of snapping his fingers and destroying everything then why hasn't it yet done so? It would be just too easy but this is just a bluff, he hates being alone, he enjoys playing with his food. If that is the case, play with that until you can find a way to solve this

It's the playing that makes him the most dangerous, he could distort and transform your body, throw you in to a void, torment you for an eternity... I don't want to give him any reasons to make things worse for me than they already are.

Doctor, your last adventure with the changelings may have left you drained at the time, but whenever you've seen or come across them since, it's always seemed to perk you back up, like you remember them positively. I find that very interesting, given your current feelings on self-sacrificial heroism. Do you really regret it all that much? Or deep down, are you still proud of yourself for that, just a tiny bit?

... Alright... changelings are fascinating creatures, I don't hate them, but I haven't really had the chance to process feeling glad about saving them. I can't weigh what it's worth in comparison to my state.

stormmodblog said:

Wait, I'm pretty sure that the Changelings themselves said that your love was meant to return naturally, and its been a long, long time since you've helped them... maybe that's something you should look into as well? Look into why it feels like your love is still so limited? It might be nothing sure, but when love and magic is so deeply entwinned, I wouldn't count something like that out. Your ignorant, so reach out to the experts.

Ever wonder if something is preventing that ocean from being refilled? Perhaps a deliberately poked leak ensuring that it can only remain a puddle? After all, nothing's be scarier to a selfish, power hungry chaos lord than a Doctor with all his passion and love for the universe restored.

You feel like you need more love in your life? Shame you shot Jack, I remember he was really into you at one point. If I recall, you pretended not to notice. Maybe you should work on building more bridges rather than violently burning them to the ground. Then you'd have much more of a variety of friends at the very least... that you'd lose anyway, I suppose. Maybe quit while you're ahead?

Anonymous said:

Maybe you'd have more people in your life if you didn't go around shooting your friends...

Doctor, you're smart, and with the TARDIS you literally have all the time in the world. Take your time and figure something out. Maybe there's some way you can help, even indirectly.

Right, focus... god this waiting is killing me, honestly.
